PHILOSOPHY OF MINISTRY

My philosophy of youth ministry begins first with maintaining a constant relationship with God. Through this I will be able to develop leaders who are living examples of God's Word and connect with students relationally. This will create a team that includes myself, the workers and finally the parents. I will support this team and aid them in understanding the spiritual and emotional needs of the youth. I will connect the students to parents as the primary spiritual discipler in their lives. This team will surround the entire ministry in prayer. And, the team will disciple and equip students to walk with Jesus and with each other. Through accountable discipleship groups, we will prepare students to live a life for the glory of God, share the leadership of the youth ministry and to be contributing members of the church body for a lifetime.
